VOL. XVIII. NO. 123. CHARLEROI, WASHINGTON CO., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1917. ONE CENT

BURGESS WOODWARD RE-ELECTED BY 40 VOTES OVER CAPT. HEIN

Balance of the Republican Ticket Elected by Heavy Majorities

MOUNTSER LEADS THE TICKET

Election day was quiet in Charleroi although a great deal of interest centered in the choice of a Burgess It was apparent from every indication that the vote between the rival candidates would be close and this prediction was verified in the evening when the boards began their count Both Capt. Hein and Burgess Woodward had staunch supporters and all of them worked valiantly during the day for their respective candidates. When the count began in the evening, and the returns began to drift in, it was seen that it was a close race. Capt. Hein carried the first and second precincts, while Burgess Woodward won out in the others. The sixth precinct was the last to complete its returns and up to that point Capt. Hein led his opponent by 10 votes, but the sixth precinct proved his Waterloo.

Fred W Brady for tax collector led his opponent Sam Michener by 144 votes, although in some of the precincts the vote was quite close. The one other contest which proved to be very interesting was the race for Justice of the Peace between R J. Whitehead on the Republican ticket and George Risbeck on the Democratic ticket. Mr. Whitehead was elected by 12 votes a very narrow margin.

The election at the police station was enlivened late in the afternoon by a controversy between Burgess Woodward and Officer Gus Brickner. It is alleged that politics was the cause of the argument. it being said that the Burgess had accused Brickner of not only working against him, but likewise acting in a manner unbecoming an officer. The result of the argument was that Burgess Woodward discharged the officer, who at once turned in his badge, mace and revolver and according to report, supported the candidacy of Capt. Hein.

The vote for other candidates on the ticket was overwhelmingly Republican, all of their candidates being successful for the other offices.

Some argument took place yesterday afternoon about the make-up of the election board of the sixth district, because of the fact that one of its members was a candidate for office on the borough ticket. However, the board made no change, believing they were strictly within their rights and the law in making the appointment they did.

R. C. Mountsier had the highest vote of any candidate on either ticket, carrying every precinct by a substantial majority. ther candidates on the Republican ticket for council and school directors received good votes, with no possibility of any change being made by reason of the soldier vote.

FUNERAL OF JOHN HURLEY ON THURSDAY

The funeral of John Hurley will take place Thursday morning at 9 o'clock from St. Eusivius church, Fayette City, with interment to follow in Calvary cemetery, Charleroi.

MUCH ACTIVITY AT NO. FOUR BOAT YARDS

The United States government boat yards at North Charleroi promise to be a scene of much greater activity during the winter, as orders have been placed for the manufacture of a large consignment of wickets for the adjustable dams on the Ohio river Already a quantity of heavy iron and timber is on hand, with more to follow, to be used in this work

SCHOOL VACATION BEGINS EARLIER

Last Two Weeks in December Will Be Observed by Schools

TWO NEW TEACHERS ELECTED

The holiday vacation of the Charleroi public schools will begin one week earlier this year, due to a request made by the business men, who expect to secure the services of a number of the pupils for service during the holiday rush.

Action on the request was taken by the school board at its regular meeting held Tuesday evening. Due to abnormal conditions and the scarcity of labor, local merchants requested the school board to set the vacation date one week ahead and this they agreed to do.

On this schedule the local schools will close for the holidays Friday evening, December 14 and will remain closed for two weeks. They will resume Monday, December 31, sessions being held on January 1, New Year's Day. On the old schedule the holiday vacation would have begun December 21, continuing over the first week in January, but as above stated the dates have been changed for this year. to permit the pupils to assist the different merchants during the holiday rush.

The board at its session last night also elected two teachers, to fill vacancies caused by resignations. Miss Ruth Neeson. of Belle Vernon, was elected to take the place made vacant by the resignation of Mrs. Anna McClain James and has been assigned to the Fifth street school; Miss Gladys Parker of Monongahela, was elected to take the place made vacant by the resignation of Miss Johanna Estenfelder. She has been assigned to room 8, in the Crest avenue building.

STEAMER BERTHA RETURNS TO LOCAL TRADE

The steamer Bertha, owned by the Pittsburg Coal company, which was transferred to the Cincinnati and Kanawha trade several months ago, has been returned to Pittsburg and will be placed in the local towing trade. Capt. Wm. Luellen, pilot on the Active will assume command of the Bertha.

How Charleroi Voted At Tuesday's Election

The following is the tabulated vote of Charleroi for county and borough offices at the election held Tuesday, November 6th. About 1400 voters were polled, the registration being away below the normal of the borough. The republican ticket generally speaking was successful both for county and borough offices, the Republican vote being very much larger than that of the Democrats. The vote in detail:

IMPRESSIVE SERVICES MARK FUNERAL OF CORP. TOMLINSON

Charleroi Citizens Pay Honor and Respect to Deceased Soldier.

AN IMPRESSIVE OCCASION

Charleroi paid a final tribute to its soldier dead Tuesday evening at 5 o'clock, at which time services were held over the remains of Corporal Thomas H. Tomlison, the young soldier who lost his life at Camp Hancock while in the line of duty.

The services were in charge of Rev. Mr. Gray, Episcopal rector from Donora, and were impressive in their simplicity. After friends had been given an opportunity to pay their last respects the remains were escorted to the Pennsylvania railroad station, civil war veterans, SpanishAmerican war veterans, soldiers of the war of 1917, business men and citizens generally acting as escort. Headed by the Charleroi Concert band the procession moved slowly to the station, the band playing a dirge. Arriving at the station the band gave a number of appropriate musical selections, "Abide With Me" being particularly impressive, while the thousands of citizens stood in respectful attitude.

When the train was coming slowly into the station Bugler Conners of Adna R. Chaffee Camp, Spanish-American War veterans of Monongahela sounded taps and as the body of the deceased was being placed on the baggage car, the band played the "Star Spangled Banner," every citizen uncovering during the rendition of the national anthem. As the train moved slowly from the station the band concluded the final strain of the music and the ceremonies were over.

It was indeed an impressive occasion, our citizens showing by their manifestations in every way possible their deep sympathy for the family of the deceased and at the same time paying the highest honors possible to the soldier who had given his life while in the line of duty.

The military funeral and interment of Corporal Tomlinson will likely take place on Thursday in Oakland cemetery, Frankford, Philadelphia, the exercises being in charge of Camp McKinley, Spanish-American war veterans. The family of the deceased accompanied the remains east and will take up their home at 4136 Peen stree, Frankford, Philadelphia.

CHANGE NAME OF STEAMER MOREN

The steamer James Moren, which was owned by the Pittsburgh Coal company, and which was sold to the Barrett interests of Cincinnatti, has been named the "Mamie Barrett." The steamer Duquesne, now owned by the Carnegie Steel company, and engaged in the local towing trade, was formerly named the Mamie Barrett, which was changed on her arrival in Pittsburgh.

LOCAL HIGH AT WASHINGTON

Play Catfish Team Next Friday Afternoon at County Seat

CLOSE SEASON AT DONORA

The Charleroi high school team will play in Washington next Friday afternoon and a great game is expected. The Washington high is pointing for this game, figuring that if they can win over the Charleroi team they will be he champions of the county. Washington high has been playing a strong game all season, and is anticipating a victory. On the other hand, Charleroi is not giving the game to the Catfish contingent merely because the county seaters say they are going to win The local boys will "have to be shown," and will go into the battle with a determination to bring home the bacon.

Unfortunately the local teams schedule has been badly shot to pieces, through no fault of the management however, but due to circumstances over which they had no control. The East Liberty Academy team cancelled because of the burning of the school buildings; the Pittsburg Academy also cancelled, although their place was taken by Parnassus; the prospective Connellsville game had to be abandoned, the local team going to Clairton for the day. Unless the date of November 17 can be filled there will be but one more game in Charleroi this season, with Monessen high on the 24th of November. The esason will close November 29 with a game at Donora, and this promises to be about the warmest contest in the valley on that day. Charleroi won decisively over Donora last year, but the down river boys have a veteran team this year,

THOSE AT HOME

Sixty per cent of the fighting which will be required to send Kaiser Wilhelm to the discard must be done by those people of America who remain at home: the other 40 per cent of the fighting will be done by the soldiers who go across. This is the opinion strongly expressed by Arthur Gay Empey, who is the author of "Over the Top," and who was just returned from the western front on a leave of absence from an English regiment. He was one of three men who survived out of a company of twenty sent out to capture part of an enemy's trench.

In other words, in reality it isn't numbers of men nor guns that will win the war. It is the spirit, the morale, the intangible soul quality carries men past the possible to the heroic. And who makes possible this efficiency of American forces on the battlefields. Why, those who stay at home clothe those who go to the front wth such invincible armor. And how? The $35,000,000 campaign next week of the Y. M. C. for war work is sufficient answer to this question.

Booth Tarkington forcibly drives home his vital point with these words:

"The Government has left it to other agencies to do other things," after referring to the Government's work. "Yet two of these things are as necessary to victory (which depends on the soul and the body of the soldier) as are the soldier's weapons and his transportation to the field of battle; and these two things are the work covered by the Red Cross and that performed by the Young Men's Christian Association, behind the lines. The work done by the Y. M. C. A. in prison camps is a work of humanitarianism, but that done behind the lines as one of the great ingredients of victory.

"We dare not neglect it or slight it. We dare not refuse to 'give' to it because we have 'given to so many other things.' The Government does not act as our agent here; nor in this do we compel ourselves in the form of taxes, to recognize that we are all at war and all in the war. None the less, our support of the war Y. M. C. A. is compulsory because it is compelled by three things; common sense, necessity and conscience

"Common sense tells us that whatever makes a man's soul and body healthier resting him and revitalizing him after the unspeakable drudgery of the trenches, keeping his mind to wholesome alleviations and cheering cleaniness during his off hours—common sense tells us that whatever does this makes him a better soldier. And every tale from every training camp, prison camp and trench informs us that that is exactly the work of the Y. M. C. A."

MAKING THE BEST OF IT

Example of how human beings, handicapped in one way or another, by sheer grit, perseverance and will power, triumph over their handicaps, are common. They will be much more common after the war is over. But every such case to date is in itself a sermon of marvelous power a rebuke to those who blessed in most [illegible] of their [illegible] for several [illegible] happ[illegible] plained, "but in the city automobiles an' fallin' downstairs gettin' licked, an' lots o' things!"

pounds. In spit of his handicap he [illegible] an all-round athlete, playing baseball, basketball and tennis. He was a substitute outfielder and secured a ranking last year among the ten best tennis players in college in the annual Fall tournament. A master of strength and football, he is strong to a [illegible], a deadly tackler, one of the surest men on the squad at catching [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] forward pass game.

There's a lesson for you in this short story.

The football season is gradually drawing to a close, but apparently the people have been unable to work up any great amount of enthusiasm over the results. A bigger game is now on and everybody is expected to take an interest in it.

On the western front the Germans are executing an "orderly retreat" in certain sectors. This is quite different from what it was three years ago, when the Tuetons expected to be able to overcome their French and British opponents.

One of the splendid results of the war will be the habits of thoughtful co-operation for the good of all. The discipline the people will undergo will be of incalculable benefit, worth alone more than the vast sums which are being expended.

The United States is the banker to the allied nations of the world. Already we have advance over $3,566,000,000, which shows that your Uncle Sam has a pocket book of no mean dimensions.

In football parlance, it is up to the Italians to "hold 'em" before they make any more gains. The Germans have made a terrific drive against the Italian line, but have not yet reached their goal.

"Doing your bit" may not be always doing your best—but your best is what the government has a right to expect in the present conflict.

CAPT. CULP GOES WITH HILLMAN COMPANY

Capt. Frank Culp a well known Ohio river pilot, formerly with the Pittsburg Coal company, recently resigned from the services of that corporation to take a position with the Hillman Coal company as pilot on the steamer Hillman. The Hillman interests, which are constantly growing, requires the services of pilots licensed for the Ohio river as well as the Monongahela. They make frequent trips as far down the Ohio as Steubenville.

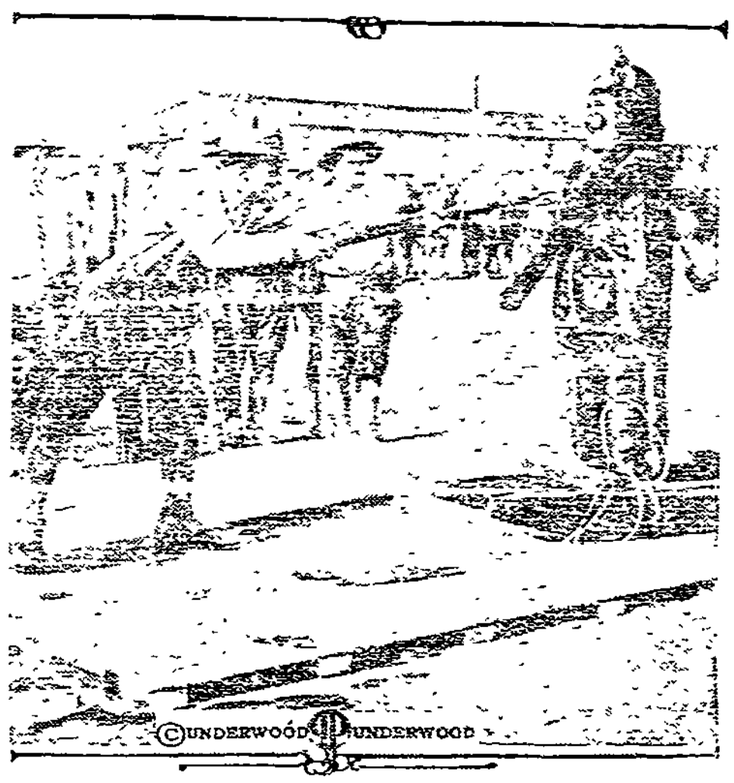
National Army Men Practice With Bayonet On Dummy Named After German Kaiser



If there is any doubt as to how the boys at camp Dix feel toward the Kaiser, this picture will convince. They have dubbed this dummy "Kaiser" to inspire activity at bayonet practice. The scheme has worked out wonderfully thus far. Every man who has been called to "charge" the dummy has found little trouble in locating the heart, which is marked with a large red spot, at the first thrust. The only difficulty is that the boys thought the Kaiser didn't have a heart. Now that they have found the one on the dummy, they are certain to find his heart when they get "over there." It is their purpose to give him a few throbs

People Kept in Ignorance.

The western districts of the vilayet of Monastir and a large part of that of Kossovo are inhabited by a race wilder and more primitive than any to be found in Europe—the Albanians. Very little is known of this strange and interesting people, save that they speak an Indo-European tongue, but do not belong to any of the recognized groups of the Aryan family. It is probable that they are descended from the ancient Illyrians, who were driven westward by the advancing waves of Slavs. Their language, like the people themselves, is wild and lawless, and has practically no literature. Even the popular songs are very few. The Turkish government has deliberately kept them in a state of barbarism and ignorance, and makes use of them to overawe the neighboring peoples.

United States and Russia.

No nation, save the United States, is so economically self-sustaining or possesses such a dearth of diversified scenery and manifold resources as Russia has. From Arctic Archangel to the sunny Crimea, from Teutonic Poland to the orientalized Pacific maritime provinces—a gigantic expanse of over eight and one-half million square miles—endless beauty and evidences of incalculable mineral and agricultural wealth.

Never Had Sense Enough.

After Dr. Carl S. Patton had been preaching a few weeks at the First Congregational church in Columbus, having accepted the call to succeed Dr. Washington Gladden in the pastorate, a woman member of the congregation came up to him after the service one morning and said: "Oh, Doctor Patton, I do so enjoy your sermons. I never had sense enough to listen to Doctor Gladden."

No Gladness Among Them.

Nearly a thousand years had passed since the birth of Christ before the Russian Slavs were converted to Christianity. Already the English, the Franks and the Germans had been Christians for some centuries, when, in 987, Prince Vladimir sent envoys to study the religions of the various neighboring nations whose representatives had been urging him to embrace their respective faiths. Nestor describes their report in amusing terms. Of the Mussulmans they reported, "There is no gladness among them, only sorrow and a great stench; their religion is not a good one." At Constantinople they said, "We no longer knew whether we were in heaven or on earth, nor such beauty, and we know not how to tell of it."

Bad Performance.

E. Berry Wall, the New York clubman, arrived one afternoon rather late at an opera matinee that was evidently not good.

The doors were closed till the end of the first act, and as Mr. Wall stood in the lobby with the false strains of the opera floating round him, a lady tried to enter the auditorium, but the doorkeeper shook his head.

"No, no, madam," said Mr. Wall. "The doorkeeper dare not open the door during the singing. Half the audience would rush out."

Easily Explained.

"Your friend was suspected of being a counterfeiter or a bank robber when he tried to get a $1,000 bill changed."

"So he was, but he soon straightened matters out."

"What did he do?"

"Proved he was a motion picture star and seldom got a bill of smaller denomination in his week's salary."

Last Stand of Beavers.

Far up in the fastnesses of the southern Rockies, hidden in one of the most inaccessible nooks that remain in this country today, what is probably the largest existing colony of beavers has established itself for a last stand. The beaver was once one of the most abundant of our American animals, but the ease with which he was trapped and the value of his fur soon drove him far on the road to extinction. Soon only the most stringent of protective legislation was able to save him, but now he seems to be "coming back," and wherever he finds a favorable location he increases rapidly.

Typesetter Made a Guess.

In the getting out of the first number of a new English magazine in Tokyo a proofreader discovered that the number 40,000 had been printed 39,000. On inquiring through an interpreter how such an odd mistake could have occurred, the proofreader said: "I can imagine a mistake of 20,000 or 30,000 being made, but how could he get 39,000 instead of 40,000?" The typesetter's reply was: "I had no '4' at the moment, so I calculated that 39,000 would be nearer the right amount than any other figure."

What the Draftsman Does.

Generally speaking, a draftsman, or draughtsman, is one who draws plans from instructions given him. A mechanical draftsman is an assistant to a mechanical engineer, and he draws the plans of the engineer's proposed works. If he is a mechanical engineer it will be plans of machines, bridges, etc. An architect plans buildings, and his draftsman, from instructions furnished him, draws the plans. The draftsman is largely a copyist. He creates nothing, but he gives expression to the ideas of his superior.

Found Answer in His Sleep.

Mathematical students will be interested in the experience of the Marquess de Cordorcet, who published a volume on the integral calculus at the age of twenty-two. A problem had been submitted to him which, try as he might, he could not solve. To use a colloquialism, he "went to sleep on it," and successfully obtained the answer, which he remembered on waking.

Avoid Brilliant Lights.

If you have a sense of faulty vision it is a natural inclination to seek a very strong light by which to read or study. This simply adds to the eyestrain. The best light is an indirect, diffused light of sufficient strength to make the letters on the page stand out in uniform distinctness. Avoid the brilliant reflection from metallic objects that may be on the desk.

Easy Money.

Near Otis Hill, in Hingham, Mass., where once stood a target and rifle range, the highway road excavator has scooped from the hilly ground several hundred pounds of lead from bullets fired there, and one young man is credited with having obtained enough lead to fill an ash sifter, his first hour's work netting him $1.50.

The Largest Nests.

The mound-shaped nests of the jungle fowls of Australia, in which the eggs are hatched by the heat of the decomposing vegetation, are sometimes 15 feet high and 150 feet in circumference. They are believed to be the largest nests made by any creature.

Million-Dollar Brain.

"Old Bostely says he has a million-dollar brain," observed the man who was always picking up information. "He's quite right," answered the other; "it would cost him fully that much to find out what's the matter with it."

Lest We Forget.

We too often forget, wrote Herbert Spencer, that not only is there a soul of goodness in things evil, but very generally a soul of truth in things erroneous.

Intolerance.

The truth is, the notion that an intellectual recognition of certain dogmas is the essential condition of salvation lies at the bottom of all intolerance in matters of religion. Under this impression, men are too apt to forget that the great end of Christianity is love, and that charity is its crowning virtue; they overlook the beautiful significance of the parable of the heretic Samaritan and the orthodox Pharisee; and thus, by suffering their speculative opinions of the next world to make them uncharitable and cruel in this, they are really the worse for them, even admitting them to be true.—Whittier.

Undeserved Derision.

No more undeserved derisive nickname was ever visited upon an organization than that of the Fourteenth Hussars, commanded by Colonel Hamilton. Several companies of it were once compeled to retreat before an overwhelming force and the whole regiment was branded as "Hamilton's Runaways." Here was a regiment which was one of the bravest ever in the service of Great Britain; it had left its dead on the battlefields in all parts of the world; it had a brilliant record for valor and yet was it known even to its comrades in arms by an insulting epithet.

Milk for Babies.

Jersey and Guernsey cows give rich fat-producing milk, and for that reason their milk has been regarded as too rich for infants. It is still true that the milk of the Ayrshire and the Holstein is better suited to infants than the Jersey and Guernsey milk, but the cause is not the fat, as has been thought. The fact is that the casein of the Ayrshire and Holstein milk is decidedly more flocculated and not so readily curdled in the stomach, so that it is the most easily digested by children.

Indian Summer.

The term "Indian summer" is applied to a period of mild, open weather that comes in the fall, embracing the most of October and sometimes extending into November, and characterized by a sort of dry mist or haziness that differentiates it from other seasons of the year. What causes the distinctive features of the season, especially the hazy atmosphere, is unknown, and the origin of the term equally so. Different explanations have been given of both, but they seem to be largely fanciful.

Prohibits Use of Images.

The Koran prohibits the use of images and symbols in the religious ceremonies of the strict Turks, or the internal decoration of the temples and mosques, the rule being so strict as not to permit the martial or civic decoration of the greatest generals or other distinguished persons. The adoption of the crescent by the Turks as a national emblem is an oddity which has so far remained unexplained.

Banknote for a Million Pounds.

The oldest note in the possession of the Bank of England is dated December 19, 1699, for £555. In the bank library is a note for £25 which was not presented for 111 years. Another is a note of 1782 for one million sterling. This is the only specimen of a million note in existence, only four notes for like amounts having been issued.

Sentence of the Court.

Mr. Potter, an Irish magistrate, in pronouncing the sentence of the court, said to a notorious drunkard: "You will be confined in jail for the longest period the law will allow and I sincerely hope you will devote some portion of the time to cursing whisky." "I will," was the answer, "and Porter, too."

Swordmakers Rewarded.

Many of the kings of Spain accorded to the finest swordmakers of Toledo certain privileges, such as exemption from certain imposts and duties appertaining to the sale of swords, the purchase of iron and steel and other primary material.

Take Heart.

A fair comparison of the past with the present is very apt to disperse the clouds of despondency. Temporary appearances are often deceptive, but the larger experience of life is the more it goes to confirm the watchful care of Providence.—Buffalo Times.

Where Waste Comes In.

"A lazy man's waste of time don't 'mount to so much," said Uncle Eben. "What mounts up is de time it takes a whole lot of other people to wait on him."

Cannot Be Repaired.

The loss of a friend is like that of a limb; time may heal the anguish of the wound, but the loss cannot be repaired.—Southey.

Patriotism Defined.

"Patriotism," said Uncle Eben, "is what makes a man glad he's livin', proud of where he's livin', an' able to explain why he's livin'."

Prosperity and Adversity.

Prosperity makes us suspicious of, while adversity makes us trust in, each other.

RESUME WORK ON RIVER REPAIRS

During the past 48 hours the river has fallen over two feet and has enabled the government officials to resume work on the break in the dam at No. 4, which it is expected will be pushed with greater rapidity The United States engineers in charge express themselves as being highly pleased over the progress of all repair work now under way and with a few weeks more of favorable weather and river conditions, much if not all of the work will be past the danger line during the coming winter, either from high water or floating ice.

Trench Warefare in Europe Holds No Suprises For Young Officers of Army

Trench warfare in Europe will hold no surprises for American officers who have had the advantages of full military training at camps in the United States. For a part of the course actually brings the men into the open country where they build trenches and dugouts and fight mimic battles against imaginary foes or friendly brother officers. This picture, taken at one of the military camps "somewhere in the United States," shows the citizen officers getting first hand instruction in trench building. They are doing the work [illegible] others directing operations from the rear. Behind them are the men on European battle fronts.

WITHIN THE LAW TO BE SHOWN NEXT WEEK

Alice Joyce and Harry Morey will appear in the leading roles of "Within the Law," which will be shown at the Majestic theatre next Tuesday and Wednesday. The story is an interesting one showing both the honor and dishonor of the underworld, and portraying the many ways in which the law is actually broken but in such a way as to be entirely "Within the Law."

ENTERTAINS MEMBERS CHILD WELFARE LEAGUE

Mrs. W. B. Pfleghardt entertained the Child Welfare League Tuesday afternoon at her home and a delightful time was spent by members and guests in knitting, guessing contests and music. Miss Bertha Easter, of California, favored the assembly with a number of piano selections, while Miss Elma Collins sang a number of solos, being accompanied by Mrs. Gray Gaut. The Pfleghardt home was beautifully decorated with chysanthemums and fall flowers. At the close of the informal program the hostess served refreshments.

TOWING FOR THE DIAMOND COAL CO.

Miss Lydia Lambert	1.00
W. E. McFall	1.00
Total	$154.25

Election day is over now, and once more we can give our undivided attention to other affairs. Among these is the tobacco fund, which you can see is gradually assuming much larger proportions. Any of our readers who wish to contribute in time to have the tobacco reach the soldiers in France by Christmas should send in their contributions not later than tomorrow morning. At that time we will send our second draft to the American Tobacco Company, to be used in buying smokes for the boys abroad. This afternoon or early in the morning will be in time for your contributions.

MARRIED THIS MORNING IN ST. JEROME'S CHURCH

Joseph Connell, son of Joseph and Mary Connell of Lock No. 4, and Miss Marie, daughter of Patrick and Magdalene Connelly of McKean avenue, Charleroi, took place this morning at 9 o'clock in St. Jerome's church, the ceremony being performed by the pastor, Rev. Wm. Fries. The witnesses were Charles Connelly a brother of the bride and Miss Catherine Connell a sister of the groom. The ceremony was witnessed by a large number of friends. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Connell left on a wedding tour to Cleveland, Toledo and other points alon gthe great lakes.

THE DANDELION IN HER FRONT YARD

Little Miss Helen Hough of 205 Lookout avenue, brings to the office of the Mail a dandelion in full bloom which she plucked in her front yard this morning. The "posy," while not as large as is usually seen seems to have blushed, not unseen, but in all it brilliancy and beauty in spite of the heavy frosts of the past few days.

JUDGE M'ILVAINE IS ELECTED FOURTH TERM

Judge John A. McIlvaine was on Tuesday re-elected as President Judge of the courts of Washington county, being unopposed for the office. Judge McIlvaine is now completing his third term in this office, and early in January will be sworn in for his fourth term. There were a few scattering votes cast for other candidates, but their number was so small that they cut no figure in the general result. Judge McIlvaine was elected to his present office in 1887, after a very exciting contest at the prmaries, in which John Donnan was his opponent.

MOST WONDERFUL OF ALL, DECLARES GEORGE H. MILLS

Hotel Man Found a Powerful Friend in the Famous Family Tonic, Nerv-Worth

As Nerv-Worth goes on from success to success wherever introduced, grateful reports by benefited users continue to multiply. Here is one given just a few days ago by an attache of the Vivian Hotel at Hagerstown, Md.:

"I have been in a very nervous condition for several weeks. Was confined to my room for several days. My appetite and what little I forced myself to eat did not digest. My stomach and bowels were in bad condition. I procured a bottle of Nerv-Worth and took one half of it according to directions and want to say I now feel fine. Hungry all the time and digest my food. No more nervousness or sleeplessness. No stomach or bowel trouble. I regard Nerv-Worth as the most wonderful and thoroughly correct medicine I have ever used.

George H. Mills."

Charleroi Physician Surprised

"Hearing of some good results from the use of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy I decided to try it on a chronic case of indigestion and gastritis. I was interested in. After the first dose the patient was relieved of gas trouble and was soon able to eat radishes and most everything else he had not eaten in years. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucous from the intestinal tract, and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Piper's Pharmacy, Carroll's Pharmacy.

and promise to change the result. However, the Charleroi team will be ready for the fray and will give a good account of themselves. The Donora field is not very suitable for games this year, due to the fact that the steel company has erected a number of oil tanks on a portion of it. The fences have been torn down, and the spectators will have but little accommodation. Unless stringent regulations are adopted to keep the spectators from the playng field, there is apt to be a little confusion should the game become exciting.

ETHEL BARRYMORE AT COYLE THEATRE TODAY

Ethel Barrymore who has won success both on the stage and the screen is being featured in a special Metro picture at the Coyle theatre today. The picture is "Life's Whirlpool," and deals wth one of the most vital subjects of the present day.

POOR BLOOD and WEAK NERVES

Lack of strength is about the first symptom of violation of the laws of health. Then comes nervousness, unsteady hands and limbs, dizziness, sleeplessness, heart palpitation, loss of flesh, and with the feeling that the life blood is being sapped comes complete prostration. In this condition the sufferers is indifferent to all things whimisical and on the verge of decay. Many people in the United States are sufferers from nervous debility and of these less than half realize it. They know that they have gloomy thoughts, a depression of mind, an impaired memory, dizziness and headache, wakeful nights and spells of extreme exhaustion, but they attribute it to any other cause than the right one. They feel languid, irritable and restless, the why and wherefore of which they cannot explain. They are suffering from nervous debility, a condition which is undoubtedly the means of causing more misery and crushing more hopes than any other trouble that human flesh is heir to. Nervous exhaustion will not cure itself. The sufferer who thinks that nature alone will bring about a restoration of health is simply deluded by a false hope. They will realize (if the power of realization is left them) when they become a hopeless victim to one of the terrible diseases which their debilitated condition invites; when paralysis, softening of the brain, locomotor ataxia, spinal meningitis or consumption begins its relentless work. Many sufferers from nervous debility, or loss of capacity as a result of overwork or violation of nature's laws are quickly restored to sound and vigorous health by my system of treatments.

Too Sick To Work

Many Women in this Condition Regain Health by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Convincing Proof of This Fact

Ridgway, Penn. — "I suffered from female trouble with backache and pain in my side for over seven months so I could not do any of my work. I was treated by three different doctors and was getting discouraged when my sister-in-law told me how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped her. I decided to try it, and it restored my health, so I now do all of my housework which is not light as I have a little boy three years old." —Mrs. O. M. RHINES Ridgway, Penn.

Mrs. Lindsey Now Keeps House For Seven.

Tennille, Ga.—"I want to tell you how much I have been benefited by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. About eight years ago I got in such a low state of health I was unable to keep house for three in the family. I had dull, tired, dizzy feelings, cold feet and hands nearly all the time and could scarcely sleep at all. The doctor said I had a severe case of ulceration and without an operation I would always be an invalid, but I told him I wanted to wait awhile. Our druggist advised my husband to get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has entirely cured me. Now I keep house for seven and work in the garden some, too. I am so thankful I got this medicine. I feel as though it saved my life and have recommended it to others and they have been benefited".—Mrs. W. E. LINDSEY, R. R. 3, Tennille, Ga.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Life's Treasure Stores.

Success and contentment begin with the realization that life represents a valuable treasure. We may liken life to a field. At first the owner values it for wild berries; then, ceasing to be a wanderer, he becomes an agriculturist, and values it for its rich harvest; grown wiser still, he discovers coal; amazed at the treasure, he digs and finds silver and gold; astounded, he goes deeper, and lo! the seam is full of diamonds. And every life holds all the strata of underlying and unsuspected stores of treasures.—Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis.

Ladies—Measure His Head!

A phrenologist writes: "Heads wearing hats 6⅞ and smaller, or being less than 21 inches in circumference, can never be powerful. Between 19 inches and twenty inches heads are invariably very weak, and no lady should think of marrying a man with a head less than 20 inches in circumference. People with heads under 19 inches are mentally deficient, and with heads under 18 inches invariably idiotic."

Jeems Henry Was Conjured.

"Mars John," excitedly exclaimed Aunt Tildy, as she pantingly rushed into a fire engine house, "please, suh, phonograph to de car cleaners' semporium and notify Dan'l to emergrate home diurgently kaze Jeems Henry sho' done bin conjured! Doctor Cutter done already distracted two blood vultures from his 'pendercitis, an' I lef' him now prezaminatin' de chile's autebelum fur de germans ob de neuroplumonia, which ef he's disinfected with, dey gotter quarantimes—but I ice-coldiated quarantimes—but I b'lieve its conjuration!"—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Once a Spanish Highway.

"The Spanish Main" was a name formerly given to the southern portion of the Caribbean sea and the neighboring coast, as it embraced the route traversed by the Spanish treasure ships from Mexico, Central America, and the northern shores of South America. These waters were once a Spanish highway, but the name has no significance now.

Eased His Conscience.

Dean Buckland when at Westminster used to tell a curious story of a brown paper parcel which he received one day by post. After many wrappings had been unfolded he found a small black splinter of oak about an inch and a half long. The writer of the unsigned note accompanying the parcel said that when he was a boy, many years before, he had chipped the splinter off the coronation chair. As age advanced his conscience grew troublesome, and he asked the dean to be kind enough to restore the splinter to its place.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Finding the Ship at Sea.

When the captain wishes to find the position of his ship he makes a number of determinations of the altitude of the sun with his sextant, bringing its reflection down until it grazes the horizon. The sun's place in the sky is continually changing, and every altitude means a corresponding local time. He notes the difference between his time and the time of the port he left, or that of Greenwich, and he has his longitude. By a slightly different manipulation of the same figures he finds his latitude. A skilful person can locate a ship within a quarter of a mile of its true position.

Remember Little Kindnesses.

Cultivate a memory for kindnesses. Too many of us are inclined to accept small courtesies and kindnesses as a matter of course, and for that reason they make so little impression upon us that they are soon lost sight of. The people who seem overflowing with faith and affection, and who always have a good opinion of their fellows, are the ones who find it easy to forget injuries, but who hold the kindnesses they have received fast in memory.—Exchange.

Army Orders.

Sergeant-Major — "Now, Private Smith, you know very well none but officers and noncommissioned officers are allowed to walk across the grass." Private Smith—"But, Sergeant-major, I've Captain Graham's verbal orders to—" Sergeant-Major—"None o' that, sir. Show me the captain's verbal orders. Show 'em to me, sir."—Liverpool Post.

Desperate Resolution.

The diner thrust the tip of his knife into the yellow disk which the waiter had brought him. He held it up to the light and examined it, while the waiter stood by anxiously. Then the diner resolutely returned it to his plate and scraped some of it upon his bread. "I take thee," he said, "for butter or worse."

Valuable Skins.

The most expensive fur is that of the black fox of Kamschatka, the skin of which, when dressed, becomes a very attractive blue. A single skin is worth as much as £200. A coat worn by the ex-czar, lined with the fur of the black fox, cost £2,000.—Sheffield Furrier.

Just Half Obeying.

Sherwood, tired of his play, had made several attempts at opening the kitchen door. His mother, hearing him, called out: "Turn the knob and come in," prompting Sherwood's answer, "Well, mamma, I is a turnin', but I isn't tumin' in."

A Little Mixed.

Evelyn, who was talking to her grandmother, who had come to visit her, saw her grandfather coming and, running to the head of the stairs, she cried: "Tome right on up, dranpa, your dranma's up here."

The One Who Does His Best.

He who does the best he can is always improving. It is this steady progress, no matter from what point it starts, that forms the chief element of all greatness and goodness.—Exchange.

Mamma Was in Earnest.

Dale's mother was washing him with an extraordinary amount of force one day when he looked up and said, "Gee, mamma, you act like this was Sunday."

Duties of Criticism.

Justly to discriminate, firmly to establish, wisely to prescribe, and honestly to award—these are the true aims and duties of criticism.—Simms.

How to Win a Friend.

The man who can love the truth that hits him also can love the enemy that hates him. Thus he may eventually win another friend.

When We Lose.

Money lost, nothing lost; courage lost, much lost; honor lost, more lost; soul lost, all lost.

Nature of the Heart.

There never was any heart truly great and gracious, that was not also tender and compassionate.—South.

A Life of Pleasure.

Mother, nurse put me right into the coldest part of the sea.—Punch.

Not Always.

A fellow shouldn't believe everything his press agent says about him.

What's in a Name?

His grandfather is in the employ of Uncle Sam engaged in passing back and forth mail for dependent humanity. His father, Mr. D——, also earns his bread in the same useful work in the Indianapolis post office. Since these men of two generations are connected with the mail service, they doubtless expect little Dick to follow in their steps. Friends of the family are sure that this is the intention of the parents, the child's name being the proof. The mother liked Richard, and the father liked Franklin, so the child became Richard Franklin D——, or for short, R. F. D.

Boiling Canned Vegetable.

The intermittent method of sterilization calls for boiling vegetables in the water bath after they have been placed in the jars an hour each day for three days. This allows alternate periods of rest, in which the dormant resistance spores may lay off their heavy protective wall and begin active growths. In the growing state the bacteria are easily destroyed by the next period of boiling. For quart and two-quart jars a daily boiling of one and a half to two hours is recommended.

Just to Work.

Everything that happens to us leaves some trace behind, writes a philosopher. Everything contributes imperceptibly to make us what we are. Yet it is often dangerous to take a strict account of it. For either we grow proud and negligent, or downcast and dispirited; and both are equally injurious in their consequences. The surest plans is just to do the nearest task that lies before us.

Let Kiddies Blow Bubbles.

There is no better exercise for inducing nostril breathing than blowing bubbles. It is a sheer impossibilty to breathe through the mouth and to blow bubbles. In one of the big children's hospitals you may see children daily blowing bubbles, as it helps to expand the lungs and induces deep breathing. Children who blow bubbles frequently at home are not likely to have adenoids.

Believe in "Safety First."

It is no uncommon thing for large corporations to spend $25,000 a year just for salaries and office expense of a safety department. Generally, there are a number of inspectors who spend their entire time going from one point to another, watching for danger spots either in the location of machinery or in the constantly shifting piles of supplies.

A Cheerful Face.

There is no greater every-day virtue than cheerfulness. This quality in man among men is like sunshine to the day, or gentle renewing moisture to parched herbs. The light of a cheerful face diffuses itself, and communicates the happy spirit that inspires it. The sourest temper must sweeten in the atmosphere of continuous good humor.

Peculiarity of Plants.

Though some plants assume the offensive and catch insects for food, others act on the defensive to protect them from being used for food. This special provision accounts for the presence of thorns, spines, stinging hairs, etc.

Art Value.

Raffleton—"Art and business have nothing in common." Mildby—"Oh, I don't know about that. The value of a painting, like the value of a check, depends a great deal on whose name is at the bottom of it."

Don't Look for Perfection.

We must not look for absolute perfection in this old vale of tears, and probably all that it is reasonable to expect of an honest man is that you can trust him to tell the truth except in letters of recommendation.—Ohio State Journal.

Temptation.

"Dar's a great temptation," said Uncle Eben, "to think you's economizin' when you decides to go wifout sumpin' you didn't keer nuffin' 'bout in de fust place."

Woman Makes the Home.

A man may build a palace, but he can never make it a home. The spirituality and love of a woman alone can accomplish this.—Exchange.

Make Good Jelly.

Many of the wild fruits, such as the highbush cranberry, pincherry, and choke cherry, make good jelly.

What They Find.

Those who go hunting for trouble are always finding fault.

Where Victory Comes From.

Men fight, but Providence gives the victory.

Swells and Shrinks.

He that swells in prosperity will be sure to shrink in adversity.

The Artist.

He who is firm in will molds the world to himself.—Goethe.

Don't Shut Yourself Up.

The trouble with the executive who is inaccessible is that he loses more by poor arrangement than anybody else. Putting a screen before the show-window cuts off the numerous advantages of personal contact and points of view. There's nothing like looking a man in the eye and hearing his story, to get at the meat of a situation. Most executives prefer to have everything brought to their attention in writing. That plan may be a time-saver, but my own experience has been that it will pay to get all information possible by face-to-face interviews.—American Magazine.

What Memory Is.

The popular notion that memory is "an association of ideas" is true. Memory, plainly, is not only made up of an association of ideas but also of associated impressions living things receive. Such associations may be due to real and necessary connections such as "iron bar," or to your mental coupling up of such associations as "blue funk," "sweet melody," "pretty girl." Habitual linkage makes the impression firmer, the retention in mind more durable and a more simple handle whereby the matter can be recalled at will.

Senses of Elephant.

The elephant is accredited with having the keenest sense of hearing of any animal. His sense of scent is nearly as remarkable. Young and inexperienced elephants can detect the passing of a man over a trail hours afterward. The elephant is a true Oriental regarding domesticity. Bulls do not habitually go in company with the cows, old bulls especially holding themselves aloof and exclusive from the female of the species

Lost in Race.

The trouble with some men is that it takes them so long to settle down that death overtakes them before they are able to settle up.

Special Japanese Holiday.

On the day of his baptism, a Japanese manufacturer, a recent Christian convert, gave a holiday with full pay to all his employees.

Loss From Fire.

Apart from the thousands of lives destroyed by fire, this country sustains an annual loss from this cause of at least $300,000,000.

Must Obey.

Public men are servants of many masters.

An Optimistic Thought.

Real prosperity is not to be estimated by large estates or great wealth.

MAKES RAPID HEADWAY

Kidney disease often advances so rapidly that many a person is firmly in its grasp before aware of its progress. Prompt attention should be given the slightest symptom of kidney disorder. If there is a dull pain in the back, headaches, dizzy spells or a tired, worn-out feeling, or if the kidney secretions are offensive, irregular and attended with pain, procure a good kidney remedy at once.

Thousands recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. Read the statement below.

W. A. Bechtel, pattern maker, 120 Thompson Avenue, Donora, Pa., says: "I suffered from dull pains across my back at different times, for years. Whenever I stooped over or tried to straighten a kink caught me in the small of my back. The secretions from my kidneys were too frequent in passage and disturbed my rest at night. I often had to get up two or three times. Doan's Kidney Pills brought me relief."

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Bechtel had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. 47
